

2004

League of American Communications Professionals Patterns Award

The League of American Communications Professionals (LACP), an organization that encourages excellence in the practice of communications, named Norfolk Redevelopment and Housing Authority's Patterns newsletter a winner of an Honors award. Competing with organizations of 100 to 1,000 employees whose revenues are under $100 million, Patterns was up against newsletters produced by Boys & Girls Clubs of America, LACP's platinum winner in this category; Intrawest Golf, a gold winner; ESPN, a silver winner; and the Mayo Clinic, also an honors winner.